Personal History:

I moved to Atlanta from small town Alabama on April Fool's Day 1995. I loved Atlanta the first time I visited, and still love it today. I originally intended to move here and finish college at Georgia State, with yet another change of Majors, this time to Journalism. So I arrived and began waiting tables and bartending, everywhere from Downtown to Buckhead to Virginia-Highlands to Grant Park. Along the way, I bought my first home in Grant Park, and that's when I became interested in Real Estate. When I moved to Whittier Mill Village in August of 2002, I became involved in the community, which quickly led to becoming elected as the Chair of NPU-D.
